marsh and I heard the frogs singing.

One by one I heard them singing so that it sounded like the roar of the sea.

The roar of the sea is very loud the Cando pinso al turmendo

Haimena, se t'havesse sul man, O chie pulesse el zunzerte Cul spathia un zurno, marioletto, Te 'l tangiarave 'l viso al to despetto.

Cando pinso al mio turmendo Chie ti me 'l dastu, amori, Thòra chie 'l me xe rottia Mio lanza, e mio cavallo scamba via, Chie no 'l posso far botta Gnesuna chie bon sia, Irteme tanda stinza dentro 'l cori

(versi di Antonio Molino)

Alas! If I could lay hands on you, or If I could ever reach you with my sword, little knave, I would change your face to your loathing!

When I think of the torment that you give me, Love, now that my lance is broken and my horse runs away so that I cannot deal any blow that would do any good, such a sting comes in my heart that I die of grief.

Mi xe stao in tutte cande

(A.Molino)

Mi xe stao in tutte cande
Catro barte del mundo, Cercando in tundo in tundo,
E l'ostro e 'l tramundana,
E 'l pulende e 'l levande;
No 'l visto mai fra tande Donna chie del vertù sia plio surana.
Unde la benendigo
Mio stella, mio vendura
E mio destin amingo, Chie me 'l fado vegniri Aldir chesta verzinia in mio vecchiezza,
Per far satiar mio cor del so dulcezza.

I have been in all four parts of the world, looking around and around, in the south and the north, in the west and the east; I have never seen among so many a woman who is superior in virtue.

Wherefore I bless my star, my fortune, and my friendly destiny that made me come to listen to this young woman in my old age, to have my heart satisfied with her sweetness. So, if I had Petrarch's muse in my barge and boat, I would have her hear that in her lovely face is all the goodness of Paradise.

E vu, fumi, chie dèu tributo al mari

E vu, fumi, chie dèu tributo al mari,

Vegni cha tutti canti a

La morte d'Adrian, del chan me dogio,

Chie no 'l porà mie versi plio

Cu 'l dulce canto chie rumpe ogni scogio.

O megàlos cordogio!

And you, rivers that give tribute to the sea, come hither every one to lament the death of Adrian, for whom I mourn, who will nevermore be able to set my verses to music with the sweet song that shatters every reef.

Oh great sorrow!
